

MOTION TRACK

Fuel Cost Tracking System

Identifying Fueling Usage for Leveraging Cost Effectiveness

While many technologies have brought increased value to the supply chain, none have exceeded the importance of the advances in communication of information.

Managing information in motion is one of the key benefits of cost tracking technology.

Being able to track costs against a budget or plan puts a new perspective on usage trends, routing costs and increasing the bottom line.

Key Benefits

- ❖ Use MotionTrack to determine equipment-specific fuel usage for stationary equipment or rolling stock, including construction equipment, fleets, generators and in-plant vehicles, among others
- ❖ Track fuel costs for correct allocation to specific departments and easy billing to contractors and employees
- ❖ Analyze usage trends, project job or routing costs
- ❖ Track fuel types for accurate tax and environmental reporting

Lower fuel usage costs with MotionTrack by providing greater accountability for fuel usage through customized reports by e-mail or on a designated Web site with real-time access.
